With the help of her celebrity fan base - including Debra Wilson, Linda Blair, Kelli McCarty, Kathy Najimy, Ed Begley Jr., Rue McClanahan, Rachel McAdams and many more - her story is coming to the world, and Coral is becoming the official spokesdog for all disabled animals. DIVA DOG is for anyone who has ever had to overcome. At its root, it is a love story between a dog and her best friend that will live forever.

DIVA DOG was shot over a four-year period. Producer and Director Chris Cory was crossing an empty, residential road in Malibu with his dogs and clients on Easter Sunday 2001 when a speeding car ran his dog down right before his eyes. He was informed by the vet she would be paralyzed for the rest of her life, but otherwise there was nothing at all wrong with her. After making the decision to keep her alive, he discovered how important her story was to so many people. DIVA DOG is a testament to the quality of life we should strive to have.
